VOLUME 7. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, APR. 17, 1917. NO. 272.

FOR CLEAN-UP DAY

"SPRING DRIVE" ON DIRT WILL BEGIN APRIL 25.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Mayor A. S. Robey Urges All Organizations to Co-operate in Making the City Sanitary.

The great "spring drive" against dirt in Maryville will be held Wednesday, April 25, according to Mayor A. S. Robey, who has designated this day as a universal Clean-Up Day for the city.

On this day every school, club and business organization in Maryville will be asked to assemble all of their forces and to break down the "trenches" of rags, bones, bottles, cans and other debris, which have collected during the winter months and to make Maryville at once a beautiful and a sanitary city.

Committees have been appointed by the Mayor to push the work of cleaning up the city, and a meeting of these persons will be held at the Commercial Club rooms at 4:30 o'clock Thursday for the purpose of making plans for making Clean-Up Day effectual.

Here are the committees:

Womens' Clubs—Miss Jessie Parcher and Mrs. E. G. Orear.

Commercial Club—E. M. Claypool.

Churches—The Rev. C. Emerson Miller and the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox.

State Normal School — Prof. C. C. Leeson.

Public Schools—Supt. J. M. McDonald.

Parochial School—Father Henry F. Niemann.

Press — George Crowson and Miss Nelle Fitzgerald.

The Council of Clubs at the meeting last Saturday passed a resolution in which they offered to assist Mayor Robey and the Commercial Club in giving Maryville a thorough cleaning up when the day should be designated.

"One thing I want to urge in the clean-up campaign this year," said Mayor Robey, "is that the cans and debris be sacked and hauled away. The sacks may be placed on the parkways on the streets and the dray men will haul them away for a small charge."

Bellows of the Farmers Trust Company, who will also attend as a member of the State Board of Agriculture; George B. Baker of the Real Estate Bank, Theadore Robinson of the Nodaway Valley Bank, S. G. Brillian Concertmaster, With The Orchestra

RICHARD CZERWONKY.

With all due respect to, and generous acknowledgement of the conductor's genius and the guarantor's generosity it would be impossible to achieve such results as are achieved by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, the famous organization which comes to Maryville tomorrow afternoon and evening, without the co-operation of the many real artists in its ranks.

And perhaps comparatively few people realize the importance of the concertmaster's post in a great orchestra.

He must be responsible, to a certain degree, for the share the first violin section has in each concert; his interpretation, his method, his technique are all guides, more or less, to this choir.

And often it happens that a symphonic score is written with a first violin solo, in which case he must assume the role of virtuoso for the time being.

All of these qualifications are found in Richard Czerwonky, who has been concertmaster of the orchestra for some seven years although he is still a young man.

A pupil of Moser and Joachim, both of whom predicted a brilliant future for him, Richard Czerwonky made his first appearance in Berlin at the age of eighteen. The merciless, keen, experienced critics of the German capital did not hesitate to call the boy a genius, and to predict for him every triumph that an artist may achieve.

It was Dr. Karl Muck who brought him to America. He was destined at that time to fill the second concertmaster's post in the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and it did not take him long to make more than good at that desk.

Then Mr. Oberhoffer, conductor of the Minneapolis organization, heard him, and decided that he would precisely fill the concertmaster's post, then vacant.

Since that time he has remained with the Western orchestra ,and has given invaluable service. Whether he is soloist of the concert — and for these appearances he has an astonishing repertoire of the classics — or simply fills his official capacity, he is absolutely reliable, sufficiently brilliant, and a thorough musician.

Mr. Czerwonky has achieved some distinction too, as a composer, his compositions for the violin being distinguished by a thorough musicianship, and much imaginative grace.

SHARE GOOD ROADS

LOCAL DELEGATION ASSURED OF AID AT ST. JOSEPH MEETING.

CO OPERATION NECESSARY

Representative Hawes Tells Boosters That They Must "Match Dollars" With the Government.

Nodaway County was assured of its share in the good roads which are to be made possible by the new Hawes road law, in the speeches made yesterday by George E. McIninch, member of the State Highway commission and by Representative Harry B. Hawes of St. Louis. Both of these men spoke at the good roads' meeting held at the Elks Club at St. Joseph yesterday afternoon.

Among those who formed the Nodaway county delegation to the meeting were: Peter Hansen, Barnard; L. W. Geyer, Graham; Henry Heitman, Burt M. Rowley, Judge William Blackford, Judge C. P. Schmidt, L. E. Rogers, E. M. Claypool, A. Nell Somerville, Dr. C. T. Bell, Dr. Will Wallis Jr., S. G. Gillam, all of Maryville; Wiley Lankford, Barnard; and Judge George Hepburn, of Hopkins.

J. S. Miller and John H. Lorrance, Skidmore; Fred Yeomans, Maryville; Ed Guire, Graham; E. C. Wolfers, Hopkins; George Daniels, Barnard and C. D. Bellows, Maryville.

The meeting was in charge of Mr. McIninch, who explained the purposes of the gathering and introduced the speakers.

Representative Hawes said that every section of Missouri would benefit by the federal appropriation if the road boosters would "match dollar for dollar with Uncle Sam."

"With $5,000,000 we could have built a beautiful highway from Hannibal to St. Joseph or from St. Louis to Kansas City," said Mr. Hawes, "but we concluded that we didn't want that. We didn't want a road for joy riders and speed maniacs. We wanted good roads in every county of the state."

"Missouri will get $2,500,000 of federal money in four years, ranking fourth or fifth among the states in this respect. But in order to make this money available it is the duty of every county to map out a system of roads and submit it to the state engineer — and these must be roads that lead somewhere."

Mr. McIninch advocated the building of permanent roads which could be used every day in the year.

"State roads in the future," he said, "will be those designated to receive federal aid. We can't furnish state aid for you in your county unless you co-operate with us and furnish your share of the money, as laid down by the law."

MOCK TRIAL A SUCCESS

Large Crowd Witnesses Ticklepitcher Divorce Trial Given by Parnell Young Men's Society.

The mock trial given by the Parnell Young Men's Debating Society last Saturday night at Parnell was a complete success in every respect. The M. P. church in which the court scene was staged was crowded to its capacity and standing room was regarded as a prize.

Before the court was called several songs were sung by members of the Parnell High School. His Honor Judge Elias Klaas presided on the bench and the manner in which he executed the duties of this dignified office would make the members of the Supreme Court ashamed of themselves.

The jury was chosen from the audience and was composed of some of the best men and women in Parnell. The case tried was known as the Ticklepitcher divorce case in which Mrs. D. V. Ticklepitcher was suing her husband for divorce on the grounds of desertion, cruel and barbarious treatment and drunkenness.

Virgil Spoonemore dressed as Mrs. Ticklepitcher, represented the plaintiff, and James Burns, disfigured to act the part of D. V. Ticklepitcher, represented the defendant. Miss Tray Bloomfield and Chet Winemiller acted as counsel for the plaintiff, while Guy Curry and Noble Klaas represented the defendant's attorneys. Witnesses for the plaintiff were: Misses Mildred Hall, Quete Morgan, Mertie Hutchison, Johnny Ticklepitcher, Ernest Yetter, Charles Harmon as Mrs. Stillwater the plaintiff's mother and Robert Payne. The defense's witnesses were: Dr. F. A. Bloomfield, Forbes Starr, and Fred Messbarger.

The plaintiff endeavored to prove the defendant a heartless, cruel husband and wife deserter as well as guilty of non-support and introduced testimony to that effect, while the defendant introduced witnesses who were prompt to vouch as to the good character and kind, loving as well as generous disposition of the husband and also testified as to the unsatisfactory conduct of Mrs. Ticklepitcher.

The jury was quick to return a verdict for the defendant, granting him the divorce instead of the plaintiff.

The affair was one of the most humorous ever held in Parnell. It was a continuous scream from start to finish.

Anglo-French Forces Have Captured This Number Since April 9 — Victory at Rheims.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, April 17.—Field Marshall Haig again swung the center of his pressure away from Lens last night. His arms are plunging with good success against the German defenses on the Cambrai-St. Quentin line to Arras. The Tombois farm near Ephy was captured by the Germans, the war office announced today.

Five millions of men are now engaged in the greatest battle of all times. Violent fighting is in progress on all of the seven-hundred mile front from the North Sea to the Alps. Haig's and Neville's armies are engaged in the most gigantic joint offense of the war. The Germans are being hurled back foot by foot towards their own borders despite their most desperate resistance.

The flower of the German army is massed on the Western front. The Allies have captured more than 26,000 Germans since April 9.

The English parliament opens today under the most auspicious circumstances that have attended any session since the war begun.

German Attacks Fail.

Paris, April 17.—Using their famous mass formation, the Germans hurled wave after wave of men against the new French positions, north and south of the Aisne river last night. All counter attacks were repulsed with heavy losses.

SUBMARINE ATTACKS AMERICAN DESTROYER OFF LONG ISLAND.

U-BOAT MENACE BECOMES A REALITY

Attack Causes Little Surprise in Washington as Submarine's Presence Was Suspected.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, April 17. — The German submarine menace to the United States today became a reality when the confirmed report of the attack on the American destroyer, Chester Smith, off Long Island came from Captain Belkas, the navy department censor, to whom the first news of the encounter was conveyed by the International News Service.

At first the navy department censor was skeptical because no official report had been made to the department. But later both the naval stations at New York and at Boston confirmed the report.

The news of the attack caused little surprise here, however, as the presence in American waters of German submarines has been suspected for some time.

The account reaching Washington differed slightly from the report reaching Boston. The Boston report said that the look-out on the Smith sighted a dark object at some distance at about 2:30 o'clock this morning and at once gave the alarm, but the dark shape disappeared almost immediately. Soon after the wake of the torpedo was sighted plainly ahead. It passed across the bow of the destroyer some thirty yards ahead.

Boston, April 17.—Germany brought war to the very doors of the United States in the first conflict between the United States and Germany fought today, when a German submarine attacked an American torpedo boat destroyer forty miles off Long Island coast. The torpedo missed the boat by about thirty yards. The submarine then submerged and escaped.

NATIONAL DEFENSE COUNCIL

Central Body in Preparation for War Preparing Transportation Plans and Labor Mobilization.

The work of the national defense council has been regarded by officials as quite as important as any other task of preparedness. The council is composed of a majority of the cabinet members and it has an advisory committee of seven leaders in the seven fields on which the nation would draw most heavily in war—transportation, labor, munitions, raw materials, medicine, supplies and science and research.

As a central body, around which will revolve the many government and private agencies working for industrial service the council has created a commercial economy board with broad authority to deal with the crucial problems of wartime distribution of commodities Experienced economists will serve without pay on the board, and their efforts are expected to insure the country against the confusion and loss of economic power that usually attends the outbreak of war.

Transportation Plans.

In the co-ordination plan transportation has been considered one of the most important factors. The need for facile resources to move troops and supplies is particularly imperative because the United States has no railroads built on a military plan and strictly for strategic purposes. This has been remedied, however, by an agreement among the roads to operate as a unit in war time and virtually to put themselves and their working forces under government orders.

As to transportation on the seas, preparations of a wide scope have been made. By a proclamation early in February, President Wilson prohibited the transfer of American merchantmen to foreign flags. The federal shipping board has mapped out a plan for construction of many wooden ships of 3,000 tons and upward which could do great service in the important work of breaking down the German submarine campaign and carrying food supplies to the Allies. They can be built in a short time The shipping board is also seeing to it that every available merchantman not needed by the navy does its share for the public service, and with this end in view, has made a survey of all the nation's shipping resources. To the same end the war risk insurance bureau recently extended protection to all classes of goods listed as contraband by the European belligerents except actual war munitions.

Labor Mobilization.

Even more complete is the mobilization of labor resources. The American Federation of Labor has undertaken to furnish trained workmen for any government or public service. Unskilled labor is to be provided by the public employment service of the labor department. The postoffice department will do the necessary advertising and 3,000 local boards of civil service commission and the field forces of the immigration bureau, the naturalization bureau, and the bureau of labor statistics will lend aid. The organization of this vast work is proceeding under the direction of Samuel Gompers of the American Federation, a member of the defense council's advisory commission.

In the field of munitions production pledges have been secured from the great plants which have been supplying the Allies, and through coordination system has been perfected. In addition, manufacturing concerns everywhere now engaged in other industries have been surveyed and informed just what changes would be necessary to transform their machinery for munitions marking.

SWEET CORN CROP

PLANT SMALL QUANTITIES OKRA OR GUMBO IN THE GARDEN.

BEST IN FERTILE SOIL

Mustard Greens, Spinach and Parsley Are Also Favorite Crops for the Home Gardener.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Sweet corn should always be found in the home garden when space allows, since it loses quality very rapidly after being picked. Its sugar changes into starch, so that to have it at its best it should be on the fire within fifteen minutes after pulled from the stalk. Those who wish to have home-grown sweet corn will find the following advice from the U. S. Department of Agriculture useful:

Corn does best in a fertile soil, but is able to adapt itself to all textures from sand to clay. To gro wit in sufficient quantities for the average family requires more space, however, than for most garden vegetables. It should not be planted until after danger of frost is past.

The rows should be spaced not closer than three feet apart, and for the larger-growing late varieties the distance had best be three and one-half feet. Stalks should be thinned to stand from fifteen to eighteen inches in the row. In planting, the seed is covered with one or two inches of soil. Cultivation must be thorough, frequent, and shallow.

It is possible to use the ground occupied by early corn for a fall planting of such crops as spinach, turnips and kale. Large, late varieties, however, will occupy the ground for practically the whole season.

For early use the yellow sweet corns have recently become quite popular. Of these the Golden Bantam is a well-known variety. Early Minnesota has long been a favorite. White Mexican is a valuable early corn. Early Malakohf is a very early sort of excellent quality, which does better in the North than in the middle States, however. Early Adams is a variety frequently grown for market, and its virtues are rather those of the market than of the table. It is a flint corn, not a sweet corn, but if used during the very short period when its qualities are at their best, its flavor is good.

For mid-season and late use, Crosby, Potters Excelsior, Country Gentleman, Black Mexican, and Stowels Evergreen are suitable.

It is possible to have a fairly long season of usuable corn if three varieties, such as Golden Bantam, Crosby, and Country Gentleman are planted simultaneously in early spring. To make the season continuous until frost, however, it will be necessary to plant some variety at intervals of two or three weeks up to the last of July. Crosby is a very good variety for this purpose.

GROW SPECIALTIES

SHOULD ALWAYS BE FOUND IN GARDEN, IF SPACE PERMITS.

MAKE TABLE ATTRACTIVE

Must Not Be Planted Until After the Danger of Frost is Past—Cultivation Must be Thorough.

Washington, D. C., April 17.— The home gardener will usually find it advantageous to grow small quantities of certain specialties which will add to the attractiveness of the family fare, and which few housewives will trouble to buy. Among these may be mentioned okra or gumbo.

The young pods of this plant are the part used. These are employed principally in soups to which they impart a pleasant flavor and a sticky consistency. The best pods are grown on young plants, but if the pods are removed before they are allowed to ripen, the plants will continue to produce them until killed by frost.

The seeds of okra should be sown in the open after the ground has become quite warm, or the plants may be started in berry boxes in the hotbed and transplanted in the garden after all danger of frost has passed. The rows should be 4 feet apart for the dwarf sorts, and 5 feet apart for the tall kinds, with the plants 2 feet apart in the row. Detailed information on this plant is contained in Farmers' Bulletin 232, "Okra: Its Culture and Uses."

Mustard greens may be produced on almost any good soil. The basal leaves are used for greens and are cooked like spinach. The plants require but a short time to reach the proper stage for use and frequent sowing should be made, therefore. The seeds are sowed thickly in drills as early as possible in spring or for late use in September or October. Ostrich Plume is a reliable variety.

Parsley is used chiefly to garnish meat dishes and to flavor soups. The seed is sown either thickly in a drill or broadcast, in the autumn or early spring. A square yard of space will be sufficient for all the parsley that the average family is likely to desire.

Spinach, however, is perhaps the most favorite crop grown for greens, and every home gardener should plant it. Around Norfolk, Virginia, and to the south of it large areas are cut at any time through the winter when the fields are frozen or covered with snow. North of the latitude of Norfolk spinach can be planted in the autumn and carried over the winter by mulching with straw or leaves. The seed should be sown in drills 1 foot apart, at the rate of 1 ounce to a hundred feet of row, or 10 to 12 pounds per acre. A rich loam is required for success.

There is, perhaps, no other garden crop which gives as much satisfaction as spinach. Ordinarily it occupies the land during the autumn and winter and does not interfere, therefore, with the production of summer vegetables. Three or four ounces of seed planted in the autumn after the summer crop has been harvested will produce an abundance of greens for the average family during the late autumn and early spring. In gathering spinach the entire plant is removed instead of merely cutting off the leaves. By selecting the larger plants first, the smaller or later ones are given room to develop. This method does away with the necessity of thinning.

Kramer's Cream Gives Satisfaction.

Kansas City Stock Letter

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 16. —Cattle receipts of 12,000 sold mostly steady today, same steer sales 10 cents lower, top $12.75. Hog receipts were 12,000, market steady early, but 10 cents lower at the close, top $16.25. Sheep and lambs sold steady at strong, with some haggling over prices, receipts 5,000, top lambs $15.60.

Beef Cattle.

Kansas native steers sold at $12.65 and $12.75, and two loads of choice pulp fed Westerners brought $12.75. These top cattle sold steady. Middle grades of native steers were 10 cents lower, sales from $10.50 to $12.25, light weight silage fed steers $8.75 to $10.25. Whatever weakness there was on steers today was due to the fact that Chicago had a good run both last Wednesday and today, with some soft spots in the market The general situation is strong, and advances are scheduled, especially on top grades. Cows and butcher grades sold steady today, with good cows at $9.00 to $10.75, lower grades of cows and canners downward to $6.50. Bulls bring $8.50 to $10.00, veal calves up to $13.00.

Stockers and Feeders.

Feeders sold up to $11.15 last week and stock steers to $10.30, all of the decline of the week before having been regained The market is steady today, with most of the stock steers selling at $8.25 and upwards, feeders $9.60. During the first half of April this year 26,000 stockers and feeders went to the country from here, 6,000 more than same days last year.

Hogs.

For nearly a week packers have used every effort to depress prices, but the top today was $16.25, only 5 cents under the highest point reached so far this year, paid last Thursday. Shippers made the early market, paying up to $16.25, but packers held out, and bought their hogs 10 cents lower, at $16.15, and downwards. Medium weights sold up to $16.15 light, $15.90, bulk of sales $15.70 to $16.25. It is believed that the packers' position is arbitrary, and that the market will make some strong advances in the near future, although it is likely that the Government will stop the advance within reasonable limits.

Sheep and Lambs.

Lambs sold up to $15.60, not quite top quality, mostly of the good lambs around $15.50, clipped lambs about $3 under wool skins, yearlings worth up to $14.25, wethers $13.25, ewes $13.0 Clipped Angora brushers sell up to $7.50, fat ones $8.00, unclipped Angoras to killers up to $9.00, click haired goats $6.50 and upwards Receipts will run light here for a month or six weeks, and the market should rule strong.

A TEMPERANCE SERMON

Feature Photoplay at Empire This Evening With Peggy Hyland and Evart Overton as Stars.

"The Enemy," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, starring Peggy Hyland with Evart Overton and Charles Kent, which is the attraction at the Empire Theatre tonight, preaches in a unique and modern way a sermon of temperance

Without being uninteresting — in fact carrying an intense and vital story throughout, this film carries a wonderful message to the public.

It tells the story of a remarkable structural architect who loses happiness, wealth, self-respect and all other worth-while qualities through his enemy—whiskey.

The heroic fight which he makes to regain all these desirable things is clearly and wonderfully portrayed and the audience is sure to feel the all-fire appeal which the drama contains interwoven with its thrilling story.

VOLUME 7. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, APR. 17, 1917. NO. 272.

FOR CLEAN-UP DAY

"SPRING DRIVE" ON DIRT WILL BEGIN APRIL 25.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Mayor A. S. Robey Urges All Organizations to Co-operate in Making the City Sanitary.

The great "spring drive" against dirt in Maryville will be held Wednesday, April 25, according to Mayor A. S. Robey, who has designated this day as a universal Clean-Up Day for the city.

On this day every school, club and business organization in Maryville will be asked to assemble all of their forces and to break down the "trenches" of rags, bones, bottles, cans and other debris, which have collected during the winter months and to make Maryville at once a beautiful and a sanitary city.

Committees have been appointed by the Mayor to push the work of cleaning up the city, and a meeting of these persons will be held at the Commercial Club rooms at 4:30 o'clock Thursday for the purpose of making plans for making Clean-Up Day effectual.

Here are the committees:

Womens' Clubs—Miss Jessie Parcher and Mrs. E. G. Orear.

Commercial Club—E. M. Claypool.

Churches—The Rev. C. Emerson Miller and the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox.

State Normal School — Prof. C. C. Leeson.

Public Schools—Supt. J. M. McDonald.

Parochial School—Father Henry F. Niemann.

Press — George Crowson and Miss Nelle Fitzgerald.

The Council of Clubs at the meeting last Saturday passed a resolution in which they offered to assist Mayor Robey and the Commercial Club in giving Maryville a thorough cleaning up when the day should be designated.

"One thing I want to urge in the clean-up campaign this year," said Mayor Robey, "is that the cans and debris be sacked and hauled away. The sacks may be placed on the parkways on the streets and the dray men will haul them away for a small charge."

Bellows of the Farmers Trust Company, who will also attend as a member of the State Board of Agriculture; George B. Baker of the Real Estate Bank, Theadore Robinson of the Nodaway Valley Bank, S. G. Brillian Concertmaster, With The Orchestra

RICHARD CZERWONKY.

With all due respect to, and generous acknowledgement of the conductor's genius and the guarantor's generosity it would be impossible to achieve such results as are achieved by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, the famous organization which comes to Maryville tomorrow afternoon and evening, without the co-operation of the many real artists in its ranks.

And perhaps comparatively few people realize the importance of the concertmaster's post in a great orchestra.

He must be responsible, to a certain degree, for the share the first violin section has in each concert; his interpretation, his method, his technique are all guides, more or less, to this choir.

And often it happens that a symphonic score is written with a first violin solo, in which case he must assume the role of virtuoso for the time being.

All of these qualifications are found in Richard Czerwonky, who has been concertmaster of the orchestra for some seven years although he is still a young man.

A pupil of Moser and Joachim, both of whom predicted a brilliant future for him, Richard Czerwonky made his first appearance in Berlin at the age of eighteen. The merciless, keen, experienced critics of the German capital did not hesitate to call the boy a genius, and to predict for him every triumph that an artist may achieve.

It was Dr. Karl Muck who brought him to America. He was destined at that time to fill the second concertmaster's post in the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and it did not take him long to make more than good at that desk.

Then Mr. Oberhoffer, conductor of the Minneapolis organization, heard him, and decided that he would precisely fill the concertmaster's post, then vacant.

Since that time he has remained with the Western orchestra ,and has given invaluable service. Whether he is soloist of the concert — and for these appearances he has an astonishing repertoire of the classics — or simply fills his official capacity, he is absolutely reliable, sufficiently brilliant, and a thorough musician.

Mr. Czerwonky has achieved some distinction too, as a composer, his compositions for the violin being distinguished by a thorough musicianship, and much imaginative grace.

SHARE GOOD ROADS

LOCAL DELEGATION ASSURED OF AID AT ST. JOSEPH MEETING.

CO OPERATION NECESSARY

Representative Hawes Tells Boosters That They Must "Match Dollars" With the Government.

Nodaway County was assured of its share in the good roads which are to be made possible by the new Hawes road law, in the speeches made yesterday by George E. McIninch, member of the State Highway commission and by Representative Harry B. Hawes of St. Louis. Both of these men spoke at the good roads' meeting held at the Elks Club at St. Joseph yesterday afternoon.

Among those who formed the Nodgway county delegation to the meeting were: Peter Hansen, Barnard; L. W. Geyer, Graham; Henry Heitman, Burt M. Rowley, Judge William Blackford, Judge C. P. Schmidt, L. E. Rogers, E. M. Claypool, A. Neil Somerville, Dr. C. T. Bell, Dr. Will Wallis Jr., S. G. Gillam, all of Maryville; Wiley Lankford, Barnard; and Judge George Hepburn, of Hopkins.

J. S. Miller and John H. Lorrance, Skidmore; Fred Yeomans, Maryville; Ed Guire, Graham; E. C. Wolfers, Hopkins; George Daniels, Barnard and C. D. Bellows, Maryville.

The meeting was in charge of Mr. McIninch, who explained the purposes of the gathering and introduced the speakers.

Representative Hawes said that every section of Missouri would benefit by the federal appropriation if the road boosters would "match dollar for dollar with Uncle Sam."

"With $5,000,000 we could have built a beautiful highway from Hannibal to St. Joseph or from St. Louis to Kansas City," said Mr. Hawes, "but we concluded that we didn't want that. We didn't want a road for joy riders and speed maniacs. We wanted good roads in every county of the state."

"Missouri will get $2,500,000 of federal money in four years, ranking fourth or fifth among the states in this respect. But in order to make this money available it is the duty of every county to map out a system of roads and submit it to the state engineer — and these must be roads that lead somewhere."

Mr. McIninch advocated the building of permanent roads which could be used every day in the year.

"State roads in the future," he said, "will be those designated to receive federal aid. We can't furnish state aid for you in your county unless you co-operate with us and furnish your share of the money, as laid down by the law."

Large Crowd Witnesses Ticklepitcher Divorce Trial Given by Parnell Young Men's Society.

The mock trial given by the Parnell Young Men's Debating Society last Saturday night at Parnell was a complete success in every respect. The M. P. church in which the court scene was staged was crowded to its capacity and standing room was regarded as a prize.

Before the court was called several songs were sung by members of the Parnell High School. His Honor Judge Elias Klaas presided on the bench and the manner in which he executed the duties of this dignified office would make the members of the Supreme Court ashamed of themselves.

The jury was chosen from the audience and was composed of some of the best men and women in Parnell. The case tried was known as the Ticklepitcher divorce case in which Mrs. D. V. Ticklepitcher was suing her husband for divorce on the grounds of desertion, cruel and barbarious treatment and drunkenness.

Virgil Spoonemore dressed as Mrs. Ticklepitcher, represented the plaintiff, and James Burns, disfigured to act the part of D. V. Ticklepitcher, represented the defendant. Miss Tray Bloomfield and Chet Winemiller acted as counsel for the plaintiff, while Guy Curry and Noble Klaas represented the defendant's attorneys. Witnesses for the plaintiff were: Misses Mildred Hall, Quete Morgan, Mertie Hutchison, Johnny Ticklepitcher, Ernest Yetter, Charles Harmon as Mrs. Stillwater the plaintiff's mother and Robert Payne. The defense's witnesses were: Dr. F. A. Bloomfield, Forbes Starr, and Fred Messbarger.

The plaintiff endeavored to prove the defendant a heartless, cruel husband and wife deserter as well as guilty of non-support and introduced testimony to that effect, while the defendant introduced witnesses who were prompt to vouch as to the good character and kind, loving as well as generous disposition of the husband and also testified as to the unsatisfactory conduct of Mrs. Ticklepitcher.

The jury was quick to return a verdict for the defendant, granting him the divorce instead of the plaintiff.

The affair was one of the most humorous ever held in Parnell. It was a continuous scream from start to finish.

GERMANS ARE PESSIMISTIC.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Amsterdam, April 17.—Black pessimism is the ruling feeling in Germany today according to information received from the front. There is a growing fear that the Kaiser's allies may break away leaving Germany isolated. Extensive food riots are taking place and in the cities wide-spread labor troubles are threatened, it is reported.

SUBMARINE ATTACKS AMERICAN DESTROYER OFF LONG ISLAND.

U-BOAT MENACE BECOMES A REALITY

Attack Causes Little Surprise in Washington as Submarine's Presence Was Suspected.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, April 17. — The German submarine menace to the United States today became a reality when the confirmed report of the attack on the American destroyer, Chester Smith, off Long Island came from Captain Belkas, the navy department censor, to whom the first news of the encounter was conveyed by the International News Service.

At first the navy department censor was skeptical because no official report had been made to the department. But later both the naval stations at New York and at Boston confirmed the report.

The news of the attack caused little surprise here, however, as the presence in American waters of German submarines has been suspected for some time.

The account reaching Washington differed slightly from the report reaching Boston. The Boston report said that the look-out on the Smith sighted a dark object at some distance at about 2:30 o'clock this morning and at once gave the alarm, but the dark shape disappeared almost immediately. Soon after the wake of the torpedo was sighted plainly ahead. It passed across the bow of the destroyer some thirty yards ahead.

Boston, April 17.—Germany brought war to the very doors of the United States in the first conflict between the United States and Germany fought today, when a German submarine attacked an American torpedo boat destroyer forty miles off Long Island coast. The torpedo missed the boat by about thirty yards. The submarine then submerged and escaped.

The official news of the attack was received at the Charlestown navy yards by wireless from the scout cruiser, Chester Smith, immediately after the attack which came shortly after midnight. The point where the submarine appeared is the main steamer line in the Atlantic ocean off Long Island.

Anglo-French Forces Have Captured This Number Since April 9 — Victory at Rheims.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, April 17.—Field Marshall Haig again swung the center of his pressure away from Lens last night. His arms are plunging with good success against the German defenses on the Cambrai-St. Quentin line to Arras. The Tombois farm near Ephy was captured by the Germans, the war office announced today.

Five millions of men are now engaged in the greatest battle of all times. Violent fighting is in progress on all of the seven-hundred mile front from the North Sea to the Alps. Haig's and Neville's armies are engaged in the most gigantic joint offense of the war. The Germans are being hurled back foot by foot towards their own borders despite their most desperate resistance.

The flower of the German army is massed on the Western front. The Allies have captured more than 26,000 Germans since April 9.

The English parliament opens today under the most auspicious circumstances that have attended any session since the war begun.

German Attacks Fail.

Paris, April 17.—Using their famous mass formation, the Germans hurled wave after wave of men against the new French positions, north and south of the Aisne river last night. All counter attacks were repulsed with heavy losses.

The French offensive on the Soissons and Rheims line has wrested forty miles from the Germans which cost the Teutons more than 100,000 men killed, wounded and captured.

NATIONAL DEFENSE COUNCIL

Central Body in Preparation for War Preparing Transportation Plans and Labor Mobilization.

The work of the national defense council has been regarded by officials as quite as important as any other task of preparedness. The council is composed of a majority of the cabinet members and it has an advisory committee of seven leaders in the seven fields on which the nation would draw most heavily in war—transportation, labor, munitions, raw materials, medicine, supplies and science and research.

As a central body, around which will revolve the many government and private agencies working for industrial service the council has created a commercial economy board with broad authority to deal with the crucial problems of wartime distribution of commodities Experienced economists will serve without pay on the board, and their efforts are expected to insure the country against the confusion and loss of economic power that usually attends the outbreak of war.

Transportation Plans.

In the co-ordination plan transportation has been considered one of the most important factors. The need for facile resources to move troops and supplies is particularly imperative because the United States has no railroads built on a military plan and strictly for strategic purposes. This has been remedied, however, by an agreement among the roads to operate as a unit in war time and virtually to put themselves and their working forces under government orders.

As to transportation on the seas, preparations of a wide scope have been made. By a proclamation early in February, President Wilson prohibited the transfer of American merchantmen to foreign flags. The federal shipping board has mapped out a plan for construction of many wooden ships of 2,000 tons and upward which could do great service in the important work of breaking down the German submarine campaign and carrying food supplies to the Allies. They can be built in a short time The shipping board is also seeing to it that every available merchantman not needed by the navy does its share for the public service, and with this end in view, has made a survey of all the nation's shipping resources. To the same end the war risk insurance bureau recently extended protection to all classes of goods listed as contraband by the European belligerents except actual war munitions.

Labor Mobilization.

Even more complete is the mobilization of labor resources. The American Federation of Labor has undertaken to furnish trained workmen for any government or public service. Unskilled labor is to be provided by the public employment service of the labor department. The postoffice department will do the necessary advertising and 3,000 local boards of civil service commission and the field forces of the immigration bureau, the naturalization bureau, and the bureau of labor statistics will lend aid. The organization of this vast work is proceeding under the direction of Samuel Gompers of the American Federation, a member of the defense council's advisory commission.

In the field of munitions production pledges have been secured from the great plants which have been supplying the Allies, and through coordination system has been perfected. In addition, manufacturing concerns everywhere now engaged in other industries have been surveyed and informed just what changes would be necessary to transform their machinery for munitions marking.

STOP WASTE!

"Let me suggest also that everyone who creates or cultivates a garden helps and helps greatly to solve the problem of feeding of the nations; and that every housewife who practices strict economy puts herself in the ranks of those who serve the Nation. This is the time for America to correct her unpardonable fault of wastefulness and extravagance." —From President Wilson's appeal to the country.

SWEET CORN CROP

PLANT SMALL QUANTITIES OKRA OR GUMBO IN THE GARDEN.

BEST IN FERTILE SOIL

Mustard Greens, Spinach and Parsley Are Also Favorite Crops for the Home Gardener.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—Sweet corn should always be found in the home garden when space allows, since it loses quality very rapidly after being picked. Its sugar changes into starch, so that to have it at its best it should be on the fire within fifteen minutes after pulled from the stalk. Those who wish to have home-grown sweet corn will find the following advice from the U. S. Department of Agriculture useful:

Corn does best in a fertile soil, but is able to adapt itself to all textures from sand to clay. To grow it in sufficient quantities for the average family requires more space, however, than for most garden vegetables. It should not be planted until after danger of frost is past.

The rows should be spaced not closer than three feet apart, and for the larger-growing late varieties the distance had best be three and one-half feet. Stalks should be thinned to stand from fifteen to eighteen inches in the row. In planting, the seed is covered with one or two inches of soil. Cultivation must be thorough, frequent, and shallow.

It is possible to use the ground occupied by early corn for a fall planting of such crops as spinach, turnips and kale. Large, late varieties, however, will occupy the ground for practically the whole season.

For early use the yellow sweet corns have recently become quite popular. Of these the Golden Bantam is a well-known variety. Early Minnesota has long been a favorite. White Mexican is a valuable early corn. Early Malakohf is a very early sort of excellent quality, which does better in the North than in the middle States, however. Early Adams is a variety frequently grown for market, and its virtues are rather those of the market than of the table. It is a flint corn, not a sweet corn, but if used during the very short period when its qualities are at their best, its flavor is good.

For mid-season and late use, Crosby, Potters Excelsior, Country Gentleman, Black Mexican, and Stowels Evergreen are suitable.

It is possible to have a fairly long season of usuable corn if three varieties, such as Golden Bantam, Crosby, and Country Gentleman are planted simultaneously in early spring. To make the season continuous until frost, however, it will be necessary to plant some variety at intervals of two or three weeks up to the last of July. Crosby is a very good variety for this purpose.

Prices go up but Merchant's lunch never go up—25c at Moose Cafe.

GROW SPECIALTIES

SHOULD ALWAYS BE FOUND IN GARDEN, IF SPACE PERMITS.

MAKE TABLE ATTRACTIVE

Must Not Be Planted Until After the Danger of Frost is Past—Cultivation Must be Thorough.

Washington, D. C., April 17.— The home gardener will usually find it advantageous to grow small quantities of certain specialties which will add to the attractiveness of the family fare, and which few housewives will trouble to buy. Among these may be mentioned okra or gumbo.

The young pods of this plant are the part used. These are employed principally in soups to which they impart a pleasant flavor and a sticky consistency. The best pods are grown on young plants, but if the pods are removed before they are allowed to ripen, the plants will continue to produce them until killed by frost.

The seeds of okra should be sown in the open after the ground has become quite warm, or the plants may be started in berry boxes in the hotbed and transplanted in the garden after all danger of frost has passed. The rows should be 4 feet apart for the dwarf sorts, and 5 feet apart for the tall kinds, with the plants 2 feet apart in the row. Detailed information on this plant is contained in Farmers' Bulletin 232, "Okra: Its Culture and Uses."

Mustard greens may be produced on almost any good soil. The basal leaves are used for greens and are cooked like spinach. The plants require but a short time to reach the proper stage for use and frequent sowing should be made, therefore. The seeds are sowed thickly in drills as early as possible in spring or for late use in September or October. Ostrich Plume is a reliable variety.

Parsley is used chiefly to garnish meat dishes and to flavor soups. The seed is sown either thickly in a drill or broadcast, in the autumn or early spring. A square yard of space will be sufficient for all the parsley that the average family is likely to desire.

Spinach, however, is perhaps the most favorite crop grown for greens, and every home gardener should plant it. Around Norfolk, Virginia, and to the south of it large areas are cut at any time through the winter when the fields are frozen or covered with snow. North of the latitude of Norfolk spinach can be planted in the autumn and carried over the winter by mulching with straw or leaves. The seed should be sown in drills 1 foot apart, at the rate of 1 ounce to a hundred feet of row, or 10 to 12 pounds per acre. A rich loam is required for success.

There is, perhaps, no other garden crop which gives as much satisfaction as spinach. Ordinarily it occupies the land during the autumn and winter and does not interfere, therefore, with the production of summer vegetables. Three or four ounces of seed planted in the autumn after the summer crop has been harvested will produce an abundance of greens for the average family during the late autumn and early spring. In gathering spinach the entire plant is removed instead of merely cutting off the leaves. By selecting the larger plants first, the smaller or later ones are given room to develop. This method does away with the necessity of thinning.

Kramer's Cream Gives Satisfaction.

Kansas City Stock Letter

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 16.—Cattle receipts of 13,000 sold mostly steady today, same steer sales 10 cents lower, top $12.75. Hog receipts were 12,000, market steady early, but 10 cents lower at the close, top $16.25. Sheep and lambs sold steady at strong, with some haggling over prices, receipts 5,000, top lambs $15.60.

Beef Cattle.

Kansas native steers sold at $12.65 and $12.75, and two loads of choice pulp fed Westerners brought $12.75. These top cattle sold steady. Middle grades of native steers were 10 cents lower, sales from $10.50 to $12.25, light weight silage fed steers $8.75 to $10.25. Whatever weakness there was on steers today was due to the fact that Chicago had a good run both last Wednesday and today, with some soft spots in the market The general situation is strong, and advances are scheduled, especially on top grades. Cows and butcher grades sold steady today, with good cows at $9.00 to $10.75, lower grades of cows and canners downward to $6.50. Bulls bring $8.50 to $10.00, veal calves up to $13.00.

Stockers and Feeders.

Feeders sold up to $11.15 last week and stock steers to $10.30, all of the decline of the week before having been regained. The market is steady today, with most of the stock steers selling at $8.25 and upwards, feeders $9.60. During the first half of April this year 26,000 stockers and feeders went to the country from here, 6,000 more than same days last year.

Hogs.

For nearly a week packers have used every effort to depress prices, but the top today was $16.25, only 5 cents under the highest point reached so far this year, paid last Thursday. Shippers made the early market, paying up to $16.25, but packers held out, and bought their hogs 10 cents lower, at $16.15, and downwards. Medium weights sold up to $16.15 light, $15.90, bulk of sales $15.70 to $16.25. It is believed that the packers' position is arbitrary, and that the market will make some strong advances in the near future, although it is likely that the Government will stop the advance within reasonable limits.

Sheep and Lambs.

Lambs sold up to $15.60, not quite top quality, mostly of the good lambs around $15.50, clipped lambs about $2 under wool skins, yearlings worth up to $14.25, wethers $13.25, ewes $13.0 Clipped Angora brushers sell up to $7.50, fat ones $8.00, unclipped Angoras to killers up to $9.00, click haired goats $6.50 and upwards Receipts will run light here for a month or six weeks, and the market should rule strong.

Feature Photoplay at Empire This Evening With Peggy Hyland and Evart Overton as Stars.

"The Enemy," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, starring Peggy Hyland with Evart Overton and Charles Kent, which is the attraction at the Empire Theatre tonight, preaches in a unique and modern way a sermon of temperance

Without being uninteresting — in fact carrying an intense and vital story throughout, this film carries a wonderful message to the public.

It tells the story of a remarkable structural architect who loses happiness, wealth, self-respect and all other worth-while qualities through his enemy—whiskey.

The heroic fight which he makes to regain all these desirable things is clearly and wonderfully portrayed and the audience is sure to feel the all-fire appeal which the drama contains interwoven with its thrilling story.
